OBSERVATIONS

- TACTICAL: He has field awareness that allows him to identify spaces to break defensive lines through progressive passes and switches of play. His style focuses on combination play; the build-up and creation phase often start and progress through him, organizing the team from midfield. He constantly scans his area of influence, adjusting decisions in short intervals and playing vertically when he detects advantages. Additionally, he coordinates and communicates collective movements, guiding both the defensive line and midfield to maintain structure and balance. Despite being a pivot, he contributes to link-up play and connection between lines, acting as a key piece in offensive organization and positional recovery.
- TECHNICAL: He has secure ball control, maintaining awareness of space and teammate positioning even under pressure. His first touch is notable, enabling quick and clean circulation. He stands out for his accuracy in both short and long passes, directing the ball with intention and advantage for the receiver. His ability to shield the ball relies on strong body control and balance, using his upper body to protect possession. He also has a powerful and well-placed long-distance shot, providing an additional option to finish plays from outside the box.
- MENTALITY: He is characterized by an associative mindset and leadership, taking responsibility in playmaking and maintaining constant communication with teammates. He shows a competitive and determined character but also remains disciplined and intelligent in defensive actions, choosing the precise moment to tackle or slide without committing unnecessary fouls. He reads the opponent's pressure well and adapts his decision-making with composure, maintaining clarity in ball circulation.
- PHYSICAL: He has balanced body strength, with a stable posture that allows him to retain the ball under pressure. His agility in changing direction helps him evade markers in tight spaces and create dynamic advantages in short distances. Additionally, his timing and acceleration when moving off the ball allow him to consistently offer himself as an option to progress, both in support and in controlled runs into interior spaces.
